NOVEMBER 2019

“LITTLE” EVIDENCES OF GOD’S CARE THIS MONTH:

- * I got several messages from people in my supporting churches. Just short notes to say hi or they are praying for me, but it meant so much to me!
- * I also had the privilege of getting to visit a family member of one of the ladies in a supporting church. The family member is in assisted living here in Lynchburg, and I got to visit her on behalf of her family in SC, which made me happy.

DEAR BROTHERS AND SISTERS,

Happy week of Thanksgiving! I LOVE this time of year, because focusing on the goodness of God makes me so, so, happy. I hope you know that YOU are a big part of what I am thankful for this year.

This Month:

As I mentioned in my October letter, November proved to be a unique month for me. I was not on the road this month, but God actually used that in a powerful way. Let me share with you some of the things that happened this month:

Salvation – Do you remember a young woman I asked you to pray for in my last letter? She attended my home church twice this month, and also has come with me to a Bible Study. At the most recent one we had an excellent conversation, and she professed faith in Christ, confessing her sins and asking the Lord to forgive her and save her. Praise the Lord for His goodness! PLEASE continue praying for her. Immediately after that night, she had several family emergencies develop, and she has not been able to come to church or meet with me since then. Pray that the Lord would hold back these distractions in her life, and allow her to grow in her walk with Him by attending church. I am also hoping to meet with her for one-on-one discipleship. Pray for God’s protection over this new life.

Witness - I was able to teach in the jail again this month, and had a record number of women turn out to listen. One of them was obviously struggling very hard under conviction, and I believe she was on the edge of surrendering. Please pray for Megan.

Health – I dealt with some auto-immune issues while on the road this summer. Being in one place this month has allowed me to watch my diet very carefully and it seems that the problem has been solved. Praising the Lord for that!

Packing – Being in my home area for this amount of time has also allowed me to tackle a project that I put off while traveling; sorting through my belongings and getting rid of what I won’t take with me to Honduras. It’s a project that had to be done, but I hadn’t set aside the time to do it until this month, and it feels great to have that undertaking mostly finished.

Upcoming:

I am excited to see what God will do in the upcoming month! Thank you so much for your prayers for me and the country of Honduras. Pray that God will send forth more laborers there.

I am praying that each of you has a blessed Thanksgiving, featuring a quiet time with the Lord to meditate on His goodness to His children. Thank you for being a part of His hand in my life.

Love, Amber
