Journey Out West

Many miles were added to our car this past month as we spent most of July in Texas and a few other bordering states. God has blessed us with some new supporters, bringing our total of support to 34%, with several other churches planning to vote soon!

We are always overwhelmed by the hospitality of churches. During our travels, God has never failed to provide us with a place to stay. For those of you unfamiliar with deputation missionary life, you may not realize that churches provide us with a place to stay. Sometimes they put us up in a hotel, other times they have a missions apartment in their church that is similar to a hotel room. Sometimes it is a church we've had a meeting with, and sometimes it is a church who is simply generous enough to let us stay with them as we are passing through. We thank God for each ones' hospitality. Our travels this month could not have happened without it.

Our Hiding Place

Sofia is four months old now. She has learned how to roll over and her teeth will be here before long. As much as I enjoy experiencing each stage of my daughter's growth, I can't help but imagine the stages to come, such as playing hide and seek, which makes me think of Psalm 32 and also how Adam and Eve tried to hide from God after the fall because of their sin and guilt. Children don't hide out of fear or guilt when playing hide and seek. They don't have a serious reason to hide; it is just a silly game. As a result of the fall we are born in sin, and therefore with guilt, guilt that gives us a desire to hide from God, but is that a good reason for mankind to hide from God? Do we foolishly hope to find safety apart from God? In Psalm 32, David says that he has not hid his iniquity from God. He understands that the further you are from God the more insecurity there is. True safety is found with God. "Thou art my hiding place." I am happy to be a father, but even happier to call God my Father. Pray for Hondurans who have yet to call on God as their Heavenly Father.

Pray for More Laborers

We have had a busy month but a blessed one.

Opportunities to Witness

We got to be a part of a mission conference in Florida. On one of the nights, we spoke to the children's class about Honduras and how Jesus has called us to be fishers of men, sharing the gospel with people around us and to the world. After the lesson, Amber had a conversation with a boy named Jackson, who had been invited by a friend that day, and he heard for the first time that being made right with God is not about works. The next night of the conference, Jackson came back and prayed to receive Christ as his Savior. Pray that Jackson would continue to grow in his new walk with God.

We were with a church in North Carolina recently. Every Wednesday, before the service, they go out soul winning. We are always glad to take part in a church's outreach when we are there. I had the opportunity to invite some people to church, and had a conversation with Amanda about the gospel. Pray that she and many others would receive Jesus as the only way to everlasting life. Pray also for those around the world who have yet to hear the plan of salvation.

We also got to be part of Vision Baptist Missions' missions camp at Sand Mountain Bible Camp in Trenton, Georgia. The main goal of the camp is to encourage young people to make a commitment to serve God wherever and however he might lead them. Many made that commitment by the end of camp. Please pray that more people would surrender to God's leading to other countries around the world who need to hear what God has done for them.

The Big Goal

While we do enjoy our time on deputation immensely, we are ultimately looking forward to fulfilling our calling to serve God in Honduras. The other day, I took some time to look at different house for rent in Honduras just to get a better idea of our options, and just seeing the neighborhoods full of people there makes me excited. My plan for my first month in Honduras will be to get my family situated in our new home and hopefully find the best place to start our first church plant. As you may know, we believe God would have us work on the western side of Tegucigalpa, Honduras where there is so much work still to be done. Please pray that we could quickly raise the support we need to get to Honduras and tell people about what Jesus has done for them. Thank you for your passion for missions, your prayers for us, and your love for Jesus.
